Interview: #2

Participant: person_2

Age: 42

Occupation/ situation: Nurse and student

Interview method: Written questionnaire

Cooking habits

1. How often do you cook?
- Most days of the week
2. What kind of meals do you usually cook?
- I love cooking Asian food, but this is not always accepted in the household, so then I would need to make two different dinners to make everyone happy
3. How often do you use recipes when cooking?
- Several times a week
4. Where do you usually find recipes?
- Online or recipes provided by a food deliverer like Hello Fresh. Sometimes I get the recipe or idea from TikTok or Instagram
5. What device do you normally use when looking for recipes online?
- Phone

Finding recipes

6. Imagine you want to find a recipe for dinner. How would you normally search for it?
- I would usually have some idea of what I want to make and if not, I would search for region i.e. Asian, European and so on.
7. What information do you usually look for before deciding to make a recipe?
   - ☒ Ingredients
   - ☒ Preparation time
   - ☐ Cooking time
   - ☐ Difficulty
   - ☐ Number of servings
   - ☐ Dietary information
   - ☐ Calories/nutrition
   - ☐ Reviews/ratings

- ☐ Photos
- ☐ Other:

8. What makes you choose one recipe over another?

- Maybe depending on what I have on hand or how easy it is so get the groceries needed.

9. Are there any things you usually search for specifically? For example: gluten-free, vegetarian, cheap, quick, high-protein, etc.

- If any it would be quick

Frustrations

10. What annoys you about recipe websites or apps?

- When it uses a different metric for measurement. I don't like blogs where you need to scroll for a lifetime before getting to the recipe and how to make it. In some they could have a choice of going straight to the recipe or ingredients at top which is better in that case.

11. Have you ever given up on using a recipe because the website/app was difficult to use? What happened?

- I don't recall the specific page, but it was made in the way described above.

12. Is there anything you wish recipe websites did better?

- Being able to swap between metrics and having alternatives to ingredients if it's something that is difficult to find nearby.

Recipe information

13. What information would you want to see immediately when opening a recipe?

- An illustration of the food, then ingredients, preparations, how to make (I'm pretty basic)

14. How important are serving sizes to you? Do you ever change them?

- Yes, I like being able to change this, not the most important but def up there.

15. How important is preparation/cooking time?

- Depends on the situation, if it's a weekend, I can spend hours but during a weekday I want it to be done in max 30 min

16. How important are dietary tags or filters?

- Good to have, for me not a must

17. Would you use features such as saving recipes, favorites, shopping lists, or meal planning? Why/why not?

- Yes. Anything that can shave off the time of having to come up with what to make is great.

Open question

18. If you could design your ideal recipe website/app, what would it have?
19. Is there anything else about finding or using recipes that you think would be useful for us to know?
