Interview: #4

Participant: person_4

Age: 37

Occupation/ situation: Kindergarten assistant

Interview method: In person

Cooking habits

1. How often do you cook?
- Almost everyday
2. What kind of meals do you usually cook?
- Breakfast, dinner.
3. How often do you use recipes when cooking?
- Very often.
4. Where do you usually find recipes?
- Different websites.
5. What device to you normally use when looking for recipes online?
- Phone

Finding recipes

6. Imagine you want to find a recipe for dinner. How would you normally search for it?
- Then I go to Google and type the name of the dish directly into the search bar. I pick the one with the best reviews.
7. What information do you usually look for before deciding to make a recipe?
    - ☒ Ingredients
    - ☐ Preparation time
    - ☐ Cooking time
    - ☐ Difficulty
    - ☒ Number of servings
    - ☐ Dietary information
    - ☐ Calories/nutrition
    - ☒ Reviews/ratings
    - ☒ Photos
    - ☐ Other:

•

8. What makes you choose one recipe over another?

- As mentioned, reviews and an appealing image.

9. Are there any things you usually search for specifically? For example: gluten-free, vegetarian, cheap, quick, high-protein, etc.

- No.

Frustrations

10. What annoys you about recipe websites or apps?

- Ads.

11. Have you ever given up on using a recipe because the website/app was difficult to use? What happened?

- No.

12. Is there anything you wish recipe websites did better?

- As someone who isn't too fond of text, I would have liked more photos showing the step-by-step process.

Recipe information

13. What information would you want to see immediately when opening a recipe?

- Ingredients.

14. How important are serving sizes to you? Do you ever change them?

- Important. Yes.

15. How important is preparation/cooking time?

- It’s important, sometimes you just want something quick.

16. How important are dietary tags or filters?

- Very important.

17. Would you use features such as saving recipes, favorites, shopping lists, or meal planning? Why/why not?

- Yes. It gives a better overview, and I like planning. I get inspired and come up with ideas along the way. A shopping list is really handy to have, too.

Open question

18. If you could design your ideal recipe website/app, what would it have?

- A wide variety of dishes from around the world. You can filter the recipes by meat, fish, or vegetarian options. Plenty of photos, including step-by-step images. There is a dedicated section for healthy meals that displays the nutritional macros for each dish.

19. Is there anything else about finding or using recipes that you think would be useful for us to know?

- Not that I can think of right now ☺